TENNESSEE SENATOR LEADING DEMOCRAT

Senator Luke Lea.

At the recent Democratic convention at Baltimore few of the younger men made as great an impression on the older party leaders as did Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee. Although only in his early thirties, Senator Lea is already regarded as one of the progressive leaders of the party. He is a good orator and his voice will doubtless be heard in many political meetings before the end of the campaign.

Wood, 112; Foss, 38; Harmon, 29; Kern, 1, and Bryan lost his solitary vote.

Thirtieth Ballot. Clark, 465; Wilson, 406; Underwood, 121 1/2; Foss, 30; Harmon, 9; Kern, 2.

Thirty-first Ballot. Clark, 466 1/2; Wilson, 404 1/2; Underwood, 118 1/2; Foss, 30; Harmon, 17; Kern, 2; absent 1/2. This gave Wilson a gain of 15 1/2. Clark lost 5 1/2. Underwood lost 5, and Harmon lost 2.

Thirty-second Ballot. Clark, 446 1/2; Wilson, 477 1/2; Underwood, 119 1/2; Foss, 28; Harmon, 14.

Thirty-third Ballot. Clark, 447 1/2; Wilson, 477 1/2; Underwood, 103 1/2; Harmon, 29; Kern, 2; Foss, 28; absent 1/2.

Left to right, Theodore Bell, Guy B. Tucker and John E. Lamb. Among the more prominent of the progressive Democrats at Baltimore is Theodore A. Bell, national committeeman from California. Bell was the Democratic candidate for governor of his state two years ago, but was defeated by Hiram Johnson, the progressive Republican. Guy B. Tucker is national committeeman from Arkansas. John E. ## FEDERALS ADVANCED TOWARD REBEL LINE

Government Troops Moved Close to Rebel Front Today and Battle is Expected During the Day.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

At the Rebel Front, Bachimba, Mexico, July 1.—In three columns the government troops advanced toward the rebel front today from Consuelo, eight miles south of here.

During the day the two armies were expected to engage in the first big battle since the rebels were defeated at Relanna, nearly four weeks ago. It is estimated ten thousand men will be engaged on both sides. The federal artillery with a regiment of cavalry advanced on the east side of the railway while further east about one thousand, two hundred cavalry and infantry were marching. To the west one thousand federal cavalry and light mountain artillery were being moved. It appeared quite likely that the federal advance would stop at Del Frente, a short distance south and west of Bachimba, mountain pass where it was anticipated the government would begin shelling the rebel position with heavy artillery while flanking columns of cavalry moved up.

Rebel Mines Discovered.

At Federal Headquarters, Consuelo, Mexico, July 1.—Discovering scores of rebel mines, the entire federal division under Gen. Huerta advanced to within a few miles of Bachimba early today, prepared to give the rebels battle.

Wealthy Man's Son Must Fight.

Chihuahua, Mex., July 1.—Lois Terrazas, Jr., heir to the many millions of Gen. Lois Terrazas, governor of the state of Chihuahua, under the Diaz regime, must himself fight at Bachimba. Terrazas has declared that he was ready at any time to bear a rifle in the rebel ranks. Gen. Orozco, the rebel chief, took him at his word to-day, telegraphing from Bachimba to have him sent "armed and mounted" to the front.

NEW MEXICO FOR DEMS. SAYS CATRON

Senator Thomas G. Catron.

"What will New Mexico do in November?" echoed Senator Thomas G. Catron in response to a query at the close of the Democratic national convention. "Why, the state will go heavily Democratic, of course."

Senator Catron is a New Mexican Democrat. His view of the situation may be biased, but anyway he is just now smiling a smile that he's sure won't come off.

took the platform to explain his vote. Stanchfield declared that the integrity of New York delegates had been impugned and insulted and New York had a right to be heard. Stanchfield denounced Bryan as "That money-grubbing, favor-hunting, publicity-hunter midget from Nebraska."

Stanchfield's bitter characterization of Bryan was received with cheers mingled with some hisses. The speaker maintained that the New York delegation was the ablest ever sent to a national convention.

"No man branded with Bryanism can come within half a million of carrying New York," exclaimed Stanchfield amid cheers.

Stanchfield bitterly attacked Bryan as one of the plutocrats whose name should be linked with Morgan, Belmont and Ryan. Any man who had been willing for pay from the Chicago republican convention should be expelled from this convention. Mr. Bryan was opposed to any candidate except Mr. Bryan.

Stanchfield closed with announcing his vote for Wilson. The poll of New York resulted: Clark, 78; Wilson, 9; Underwood, 2; absent, 1. Under rules 90 votes were cast for Clark.

Wilson Pleaded.

Seagirt, July 1.—"That's the stuff!" exclaimed Governor Wilson when he received news this afternoon that he had passed Speaker Clark on the 30th ballot.

CONGRESS DECIDES ON A COMPROMISE

Washington Alarmed Over Lack of Funds to Pay Workmen Extends Appropriation For Present Month.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The senate and house have concurred in a resolution extending the present appropriations to cover the month of July so that there may be no delay in paying the workmen in the various government employ, who otherwise would be compelled to quit work to-day. The President will sign the order.

At Boston.

Boston, Mass., July 1.—Nearly one thousand, five hundred of the two thousand men employed at the Charleston navy yard were affected by a lay off which went into effect today because of the failure of congress to make provision for the payment of their wages. The only employees kept at work were police, firemen and clerks. Customs employees are also affected.

At La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., July 1.—All government work on the entire upper Mississippi river was suspended today owing to the failure of congress to appropriate money for that purpose.

DECLARES NO NEW PARTY IS NEEDED

Senator Works of California, Presenting Resolution Today Says New Party is Unnecessary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, July 1.—Senator Works of California, progressive republican presenting in the senate today a resolution to investigate recent campaign contributions and expenditures declared that President Taft's renomination had been procured unjustly and illegally. California needed no new party, he said, and the republican party might better go down to defeat for the sins of its leaders and come up four years hence than to form a new party.

President Taft today sent to the senate the nomination of William Marshall Bullet of Louisville, Ky., to be solicitor general of the United States to succeed Frederic W. Lehmann of St. Louis, resigned.

CONGRESS RESENTS ATTACK ON SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, July 1.—In answer to attacks upon Speaker Champ Clark in the Baltimore convention, the house today adopted a resolution announcing its entire faith in its presiding officer. The resolution offered by a republican, Representative Austin of Tennessee, follows:

"The members of this house, regardless of politics, express their full confidence in the honor, integrity and patriotism of the presiding officer of this house, Honorable Champ Clark. I was passed unanimously, republicans and democrats applauding."

THIRD PARTY VOTE MAY SEND ELECTION INTO LOWER HOUSE

Peculiar Situation Might Arise as Result of Third Party Candidate For Presidency.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The possibility of a third party and that party carrying enough states to reduce the number of electoral votes of each of the other candidates below a clear majority of the electoral college is fraught with possibilities that are interesting, to say the least.

If such a condition should arise the election would devolve on Congress, the House choosing the President and the Senate the Vice President.

Under the Constitution the vote of the House consists of one vote from each state, the complexity of the state vote, of course, being determined by the complexity of the delegation from that state.

For instance, the majority of the Ohio delegation are Democrats and Ohio's vote would go to the Democratic candidate; Pennsylvania's vote would go to the Republican candidate, because the majority of her delegation are Republicans; the delegation from Nebraska is a tie, hence Nebraska would be disfranchised so far as a vote for President was concerned.

Majority Necessary.

The constitution requires that the man elected shall have a majority of the votes in his column. As the situation now is, there are forty-eight states, so the successful candidate would have to possess himself of the vote of at least twenty-five states. In the House there are twenty-two states that are Democratic on delegation ballot, twenty-two that are Republican and four that are tied.

In 1824, when there were four candidates for the Presidency and none received a majority of the electoral college, the election was thrown into the House and John Quincy Adams, who had fewer votes in the college than Andrew Jackson, was selected. For Vice President John C. Calhoun had received a large majority in the electoral college and, therefore, the duty of electing a Vice President did not devolve upon the Senate.

Jefferson Beats Burr.

When the election of 1800 took place the constitutional amendment providing that candidates for President and candidates for Vice President should be voted for separately had not been passed. Then the leading candidate became President and the next one Vice President.

In the campaign of 1800 it was understood that Jefferson was the Democratic-Republican candidate for the Presidency, with Aaron Burr, as his running mate, while John Adams and C. C. Pickney were the Federalist candidates. Everything went smoothly until the electoral votes were counted, and it was found that Burr had received the same number of votes in the electoral college as the head of his ticket had obtained.

After the balloting began it was found that every member of the house was present with two exceptions, and that one of these, though too ill to appear on the floor of the house, was in a committee room near by, where a bed had been prepared for him.

Hamilton, although personally friendly to Burr, and stating that "if there is any man in the world I ought to hate, it is Jefferson," did everything in his power to bring about the election of Jefferson over Burr.

He announced a doctrine, which is frequently repeated in modern American politics, but not always followed as in his example, that "the public good must be paramount to every personal consideration."

On the thirty-sixth ballot Jefferson was elected.

LA FOLLETTE VOTES WOULD GO TO TAFT

If Republicans Win in Wisconsin, Senator's Admirers Named As Electors Must Vote for Taft.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 1.—Men with pronounced La Follette views were selected over a month ago as presidential electors in this state, and unless they resign, should the republican win in Wisconsin next fall, they will have to vote for William H. Taft for president. Within the last few days some of Senator La Follette's friends have been investigating methods whereby Wisconsin voters might vote for La Follette and have their electoral ballots counted for him. It has been found, however, that the law requires that the name of the republican electors shall be printed beneath the name of the republican candidate for president or vice president. Constitutional lawyers say that the only escape these electors have from voting for Taft, if they are elected, is to resign.

FIFTY DEAD IN RUINS OF CYCLONE WRECKED REGINA

TERrible DISASTER WHICH HAS WIPED OUT POPULOUS CITY IN SASKATCHEWAN HARD TO REALIZE—DETAILS ARE MEAGRE.

FORTY KNOWN INJURED

Entire City is Wrecked by Terrible Cyclone Which Swept Over the City Last Evening Leaving Trail of Death and Desolation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Regina, Sask., July 1.—It was a sorrowful sight on this morning broke after the havoc wrought by the cyclone which struck this city early last night. Citizens who have escaped death or injuries aided the work of rescuing the injured and taking the bodies or dead from the ruins.

It will be late today before the exact number of dead is known. The list of dead, so far as known, is 50, and injured over 40.

The storm lasted but a short time; in fact, it was over before the people hardly had time to realize what had taken place and many escapes from death are miraculous.

Buildings but a block from the path of the storm were but little injured. The first intimation that those outside of the cyclone zone had of the disaster was when three girls who had escaped from the wrecked telephone exchange belonging to the Government Telephone Lines appeared at the office of a local morning newspaper and told there of their experiences. The young women had slid from the second floor of the building to the basement, being carried down by a flicker of a switchboard. Soon hundreds of willing hands began the work of rescue which will not be finished before tonight.

The electric light plant was put out of commission when the storm struck, adding to the confusion and sadly retarding work. Many freaks of the wind are shown. The roof of a factory building was carried three blocks and tossed through a hand-some residence. Four lively stables were demolished and every horse in them was killed. The escape of seventy-five girls working in the telephone exchange is probably the most marvelous story of any. The building was completely demolished. It was at first believed that a large number had been killed. Supt. J. T. R. Sutherland, with the officials at Winnipeg early in the night, stated that probably twenty had been killed and thirty injured. This, however, proved to be untrue. Just how many are injured is unknown, but none were killed, nor fatally hurt.

On Lorne street, one of the principal residential thoroughfares, scarcely a building was left standing. The Canadian Pacific railroad yards is a flat expanse of ruined shops and trains. Some of the trains were picked up and carried several blocks. One was carried through the freight house. The northern side of the city is practically wiped out. No one knows how many are dead on that side.

A canoe was carried from Wascana lake to Victoria park, a distance of three quarters of a mile, and dropped there. Sailing boats were picked up out of the water and strewn in different parts of the city. The cupola of the Baptist church was dropped in the middle of the street three blocks away. Late in the evening when officials went to the local banks of the Royal Bank Exchange and other things right some men entered the locked door and demanded the money there to their credit. One of the largest grain elevators facing the railway yards was picked up bodily and carried a distance of fifty feet from its foundation.

There were many pathetic scenes in the rescue work among the dead and wounded when some worker would find perhaps a member of his own family in the debris. Husbands were looking for wives, and mothers for children. Men stopped to their work of rescue and asked a passing acquaintance of word of relatives or friends. Many families were separated at the time of the disaster.

Earlier Report.

Winnipeg, Man., July 1.—The magnitude of the calamity which Regina had suffered while growing in realization as the rescue work proceeded could not be fully estimated at an early hour today. It seemed certain, however, that the casualties would run up to a total of between 400 and 500 and that the property loss could hardly be under $4,000,000 at the lowest estimate. The confusion was such as to determine the number of fatalities was out of the question. Every ambulance in the city was worked to its limit, carrying the bodies of the killed and the scores of injured persons to the hospitals which were filled early in the evening and a number of improvised hospitals in some of the larger buildings left standing. Crowds of volunteers all over the city are assisting in the work of searching the wreckage and for hours hardly a minute went by that a dead body or the mangled form of some living victim was not uncovered. Hurrying men and women speeding on their errands of mercy filled the streets as the night wore on, while the authorities strove their best to bring order out of confusion succoring the living and to determine as best they could as to the identity and number of dead.

The sweep of the storm, the worst in the history of the Canadian northwest, was over a city which only a short time before had completed the work of decking itself in gala attire for the celebration of Dominion day. Bunting and flags covered buildings everywhere and net works of colored electric lights were strung and ready for illumination. Through these gaily decorated streets the tornado swept and within a half hour Regina had been turned into a city of mourning. In the track of the storm, building after building lay in ruin, shrouded in its gay colored bunting.

The tornado swooped down just a few blocks to the north of the southern limits of the city, cutting a swath several blocks wide right into the center of the town, leveling the buildings in its wake.

In a twinkling three of the handsomest churches in Regina were laid in ruins. They were the Methodist, Baptist and Knox church, the first of the city's large buildings to be blown down. The Methodist church fell with a crash that sounded above the howling of the storm and the roar of the cloudburst that accompanied the terrific wind.

Then the roof was swept from the Y. M. C. A. building across Victoria square, and the walls of the structure shattered while just beyond the handsome new public library was badly wrecked and the church of the Presbyterian denomination was laid in ruins almost as complete as those of the structures further east.

In rapid succession the Masonic Temple and the telephone exchange buildings were attacked and practically leveled. The storm seemed to spend its greatest fury on the latter structure. Under the mass of wreckage left were the forms of many victims, the greater part of them girl operators of the telephone switchboard. Fortunately although many of the girls were seriously injured, none were killed.

One of the most serious losses to the city was that of the warehouses and the row of grain elevators beside the Canadian Pacific railway yard. Upon those the farmers of the district were depending for the storage of their crop this season. But one grain elevator remained and that one much damaged.

The freaks of the storm were remarkable around the railroad yard. Hardly a car remained whole. Several cars were picked up bodily and carried long distances. One was hurled through the freight shed. Other peculiar doings of the wind were many. A canoe was carried from Wascana lake, a distance of three quarters of a mile, to Victoria park and dropped there. Many dinghies and even small sailing vessels lie strewn over the southern section of city as far as a half mile from the lake. Of numbers of persons out on the waters of the lake when the storm broke, five are known to have been drowned.

The whole north side of the city was practically wiped out by the storm. Six hundred families are homeless. The mayor and city council have started a fund and are providing for the destitute. Families were widely separated in the confusion. Tonight husbands are searching for their wives and mothers for their children. Men stopped to their work of rescue and asked a passing acquaintance of word of relatives or friends and relatives.

One of the first names given out as among the dead was that of Andrew Bryan, manager of the Ludhope Anderson company of Orillia, whose wagon and carriage warehouse was destroyed. He was a member of the council of the board of trade of Regina.

Fire Swept.

Winnipeg, July 1.—It is reported that the Saskatoon is being swept by fire this afternoon. The flames are being driven by the heavy wind. All water power force is useless. All wires are down on account of the heavy storm yesterday.

STATE RAILWAY MAP HAS MANY CHANGES

Madison, Wis., July 1.—Upwards of 100 changes will be made in the 1912 state map of Wisconsin, called the railroad map of Wisconsin, which the state railroad commission is now preparing for the printer. Many of these changes are merely corrections of mistakes from places on the 1910 map while new railroad extensions and new towns thereon call for numerous other additions to the map. An edition of 25,000 maps is required by law. The bulk goes to members of the legislature for distribution to their constituents. The railroad commission is about to advertise for bids for their publication. A Milwaukee firm issued the 1910 map.

The new map will show several changes in county lines. The north boundary of Oneida county is wrong on the present map and should be nearly a straight line. The northwest corner of Forest county will be made to run straight north. Several sections formerly a part of Shawano county are now part of Langlade county.

In accordance with a decision of the United States Geographical board, the name of Sucker lake in Polk county will be changed to Wapogasset lake.

Among the changes in railroad lines will be the following: The Omaha will be shown from Ashland Junction to the Chicago & Northwestern line at Ashland; the Soo will be extended from Athens, Marathon county, north to Goodrich; the Green Bay & Western will be shown from Onalaska to La Crosse; the Pacific extension will be shown from Fredrick, Polk county, to Boylston; the old Soo line will be removed from New Richmond to North St. Paul, as will the railroad from Glenwood, St. Croix county, and changes will be shown on the Drummond & Southwestern in Bayfield county.

Lusk and Jump River are towns to be located on the Stanley, Merrill & Phillips railroad in Taylor county. Gilman, Taylor county, will be relocated on the map.

REASON OF FAILURE TO ATTAIN IDEALS

REV. J. W. LAUGHLIN TREATS PERTINENT QUESTION AT UNION SERVICE.

LACK OF RESOLUTION

And the Courage to Follow Out Our Convictions Account for Failure to Reach the Goal.

Describing the strife to attain the ideals of Christian teachings as a race, the Rev. J. W. Laughlin in his address at the union service at the Congregational church last evening, treated in a comprehensive manner some of the things which result in the failure to reach the goal for which we started. Mistaken notions of what is worth while in life, the tendency to compromise, and the unwillingness to pay the price, required for the attainment of noble purposes, were given as the principal setbacks in our race for Christian manhood.

In the Old Testament, the speaker pointed out in beginning his address, there were repeated references to life as a journey. In the New Testament, however, the emphasis changes, due to the change in the environment of the Roman rule, and life is continually referred to as a battle and the early missionaries speak again and again of the warfare of the Christian life.

In the text last night, Hebrews, 12:1-2, the comparison was to a race: "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us; and let us run with patience the race that is set before us."

"In order to win a race," the speaker said, "there is necessary a period of preparation and training. The athlete rids himself of all surplus flesh, he strips himself of unnecessary clothing, and starts for his goal. In the same way the Christian starts out with the ideals of Christian manhood, and purity and nobility of soul as his goal, but why is it that so often he fails to reach his ideals?"

One reason for faltering, Dr. Laughlin stated, was that we come to think it isn't worth while, in our homes and in our meetings with one another and we fail to talk about the growth of the soul and we hear little in regard to our neighbor's virtues. It is rather of the material things, his land, his wealth, his possessions, that we talk. Breadth of vision, inspiration, high and lofty purposes, are overlooked in our friends and we fail to comment on their virtues. When we feel that we haven't broadness of intellect to entertain our guests, suddenly we buy ice cream, when our neighbors furnish their homes with fine carpets and ride in automobiles, we begin to feel likewise, in our mistaken idea of the goal for which we should strive. And we are satisfied with such material things and are reconciled to the belief that it was for them that we were put into the world and the poet's conception that "a man's man for a chat," is entirely forgotten.

"How insignificant are all the achievements of man in the presence of a noble intellect, inspired with high purposes and purity of soul. Are these things are worth nothing today? Aye, they are, but it is only when we realize the purpose of our living that we can successfully strive toward this goal of Christian qualities."

The disposition to compromise was another hindrance from the ideal of Christian manhood, said the speaker. He pointed out the case of Sampson who stooped to the level of the people who he should have helped with the consequent disaster. Compromise entered into his life, resulting in the disgraceful youth and the poor, blind, broken-down old man at the mill. Mohammed's example is similar. He was a servant to compromise. In politics, the man who learns to wink at corrupt practices and who is blind to doubtful dealings, wrecks his character and his Christian manhood.

A further difficulty which besets us in the race, is an unwillingness to pay the price which is required for the attainment of the nobility in life. The speaker pointed out the conditions which Jesus placed for the young man who asked what he should do to have eternal life. He was not willing to meet these, to pay the price, and he went away sorrowing.

"Only by sacrifice can man secure the larger and better life. By obeying the dictates of conscience, by guarding against indifference, by paying the price, can he reach the ideals of Christ. Success is a matter of determination in all walks of life. When we are resolved to subdue our passions and to follow the straight course, then we may be sure of running the race to the best advantage."

NEED NOT PAY TO HAUL GARBAGE OF NEIGHBORS

City Collects Cans Once Furnished and Sells Them to Applicants.—Abuse is Prevented.

By collecting the garbage cans which the city supplied to a number of hotels and other establishments with large quantities of garbage to dispose of, and selling them to applicants, the council has stopped an abuse which has become more flagrant under the new garbage collection ordinance. Hitherto a number of people have been accustomed to dump garbage in the cans furnished to these places and thus were put to no expense for having it hauled away. This could not be prevented for the city had no right to give the service to one citizen and not to another. This service is promised to incinerators which collection was made compulsory so the city took back the cans and sold them to those who wanted them for $1.00 each, the former user's buying them in most instances. Each family or business establishment will now have to pay for hauling away its own garbage, and not the neighbors also. Some are providing their garbage cans with locks in self-protection.

HOLD LAST SERVICE FOR WILLIAM BUOB

Large Number Attend Funeral of Well Known Brewer.—Many Beautiful Floral Tributes.

The body of William Buob, president of the Buob Brewing company, was laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday afternoon, following services held at the home, 639 South Main street, at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. William F. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Beloit, officiated at the house, and the Eagles lodge conducted the service at the grave. The Eagles attended the funeral in a body, nearly one hundred being in line. They marched from the home to the city hall where conveniences awaited them, and after arriving at the cemetery gates, marched to the grave. The pall bearers were members of the Eagles and Elks lodges. These, from the Eagles were E. B. Connors, Charles Kniff and William Lawyer; from the Elks lodge John L. Fisher, Lewis Avery and Charles Snyder. The floral memorials were unusually profuse and beautiful.

Prominent among them were a "gates ajar" design from the members of the family, a huge standing wreath made up of carnations and Easter lilies, presented by the employees of the Buob Brewing company; a large basket of flowers from the Fraternal Order of Eagles; and a clock design composed of roses, carnations and lavender sweet peas from the Elks lodge. A star and crescent design was presented by a number of friends. A large number of floral sprays were also displayed.

Mrs. D. E. Jones, wife of D. E. Jones of Emerald Grove, died at 5:20 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Mercy hospital. She had been ill for a month and was brought to Mercy hospital a week ago to undergo an operation. This failed to better her condition and she failed rapidly. Mrs. Jones was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gentle of Johnson, and was born there fifty years ago. She was married November 3, 1888 to D. E. Gov. Earl Brewer, of Mississippi, has made his fellow Democrats from the north who attended the Baltimore convention feel very blue and discontented. Brewer was a delegate to the big pow-wow. "Why, you fellows from up north have no idea how fine it is to be a Democrat down in Mississippi," he told them. "All we have to do after we get the nomination is to sit back in the shade. No Republican has had a look-in for an elective office there since the days of reconstruction."

Of course the boys from the north had known that all along, but the remarks of the governor brought sad memories to many. They all agreed that Mississippi is a perfect state.

SCOUTS WILL TAKE HIKE TO EDGERTON

SUMMER WORK FOR BOYS WILL BEGIN WITH EXPEDITION OVER THE FOURTH.

JAEKE TAKES CHARGE

Scoutmaster Will Devote Entire Time To Summer Field Work And Have Charge of Camp.

Scoutmaster Hans Jaeke assumed charge of the summer field work of the local boy scouts this morning in accordance with the action taken by the scout council several weeks ago, and the first work scheduled is a hike to Edgerton, for over the Fourth.

"Captain" Jaeke announced this morning that this expedition was in the nature of an experiment to determine just what might be done and to arouse interest among the other boys. He has secured promises from twenty-five or more scouts who will make up the squad and instructions have been issued them in regard to provisions, tents and equipment.

The boys will leave this city at seven o'clock Wednesday morning carrying provisions for one day, for Wednesday's dinner and supper, and Thursday's breakfast. The party will reach Indian Ford about ten or eleven o'clock, where they will stop for dinner and a rest until two-thirty or three o'clock. Then they will proceed to Edgerton. Each member of the party will have twenty-five cents to provide for food for Thursday and Friday.

Parties in Edgerton who have charge of an organization of boys similar to the scouts will make arrangements for a camping place. Thursday and Friday until time for starting home, will be consumed in various camp drills and other exercises to test out camp methods, as prescribed by the scout manual.

No tents have as yet been ordered for the summer camp, which will be established shortly, and consequently shelters will be borrowed for the journey this week. The boys will also bring their small tents to be used in case of emergency. It is planned to secure the services of several local autoists to carry the tents and equipment to Edgerton on the afternoon of July 3rd.

It is possible that the squad may be called upon to appear in the Fourth of July parade at the tobacco city in which event they will make a good showing. "Captain" Jaeke has ordered each boy to appear in uniform.

After several expeditions of this character the summer camp will be established as some attractive spot along Rock River. The total amount of money to be raised as yet but the council is sure that it will be forthcoming. Between $150 and $200 is still needed to make the camp a complete success. "Captain" Jaeke is busy at present making arrangements for the summer work and a number of pleasant things are in store for the boys. It is possible that they may accept the invitation extended by the Palmyra business men's association to go to the Jefferson county city for a short outing.

YOU COULDN'T KILL TYNN-WILLY WITH A SHOTGUN; ROSALIE COULD WITH A GLANCE

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

by DAN MCCARTHY

(By Dan McCarthy.)

"I consider Young Jack O'Brien faster than either Gibbons or Kilbane," declared Ad Wolgast recently. "The boy is like a flash. Why, he made me miss punch after punch in the first two rounds, and it was not until I dropped him for the count in the second round that I could get any body blows home. The blow hurt him badly, but he recovered quickly enough and in the last three rounds he was fighting as fast as ever."

"He threw so many gloves at me at one time, I thought it was raining punches. My nose feels as though someone had been beating a tattoo on it."

The Bay City Southern Michigan League Club has purchased the entire Salem club of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league for some of the present Bay City players and a cash consideration. Lack of support by Salem fans is the reason for the sale. The Salem club now is leaving the Ohio and Pennsylvania League.

It looks as if "Lefty" Russell, the pitcher that Mack paid $11,000 for, would be to find some other employment to baseball. Atlanta has returned to him with thanks, and there doesn't seem to be a real live league team anywhere that wants him.

Will Thoma of England, who formerly managed Jim Driscoll, the English featherweight champion who is now in America, declares that Driscoll is the fastest and most skillful boxer ever known to the featherweight division.

"Driscoll had little difficulty about beating Poesy, the French wonder, in twelve rounds," says Thornton. "Driscoll is well remembered by Americans who saw him make Abe Attell look like a fool when that great fighter was in his prime."

"I have a great amount of respect for Johnny Kilbane, both as a fighter and as a man, but I am of the opinion that if he ever meets Driscoll in the ring he will be beaten, for Driscoll is a marvel of speed and skill and a good hitter. He said after his defeat of Poesy that he wanted Kilbane next, and he will do his best to get on a match with Champion Johnny for the title. In fact in England they call Driscoll world's champion now."

No professional playing by Iowa University baseball men this summer. The Iowa University board in control of athletics has ruled that Iowa players may take part in amateur games during the summer without permission, but cannot secure permission to engage in the other type of games.

That Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn fight may not be such a one-sided affair, after all. Tom Flanagan, manager and trainer for Johnson, not only concedes to Jim Flynn seventeen rounds of fast fighting with Jack on July 4th, but asserts that the battle will be the best heavyweight exhibition in ten years.

HANSONS LOSE GAME AND DROP TO THIRD POSITION IN LEAGUE

Parker Pen Team in Second Place While "Y" Holds Position—Gazette Leads Second Division.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Y. M. C. A.	4	0	1.000
Parker Pen Co.	4	1	.800
Hanson Co.	3	1	.750
Machine Co.	3	2	.600
Gazette	2	3	.400
Recorder	1	3	.250
C. & N. W.	1	4	.200
Lewis Co.	0	5	.000

Exciting contests marked the Commercial league games Saturday afternoon, and several changes in the standing of the teams resulted. The Hanson team met its first defeat of the season and dropped to third place while the Parkers, who worked the Hanson downfall, climbed to second place. The "Y" team continued its winning streak and still leads with a perfect percentage. The Gazette team won from the Lewis Knitting company's nine and now leads the second division of the percentage column.

The first game at the Fair grounds between the Y. M. C. A. and the Recorder resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 9 to 5. The stock work was delayed until the fourth inning when the "Y" boys began with a double by Brown, followed by singles left off the bats of Clarke, Ritter and Pope, resulting in two scores. The Recorder tied the score in their half of the fourth. In the seventh the "Y" team slammed the ball at will and brought in seven tallies. The printers made a strong attempt at a rally, but ended at the short end of the score. The line-ups were:

Y. M. C. A.—Porter, 2b; Korst, ss; Brown, c; Clarke, 3b; Ritter, lf; Pope, rf; Koch, 1b; Falter, cf; Greene, p. Recorder—Haanman, 2b; Campbell-Hemming, ss; Whitteit, c; Y. Hemming, 3b; Kelly, lf; Smith, rf; Krusemeier, 1b; McGinley, cf; W. Hemming-Campbell, p.

Gazette 5; Lewis 2. The Lewis team, out for one Saturday, returned to the league with a strengthened line-up Saturday and played a fast game against the Gazette in the second contest at the Fair grounds. The printers did some brilliant stick work and won the game, however, by the score of 5 to 2. The Gazette men started strong with two runs in the first and one in the third.

The Lewis men secured one tally in the fourth and repeated in the fifth, giving them their total points. Paul Schmidt's three base hit in the fifth brought in a run and he scored on Provancher's hit. Following is the line-up:

Gazette—Schmidt 1b; Provancher, ss; McGinley lf; Heise 2b; Clark 3b; O'Hara, p; D. Lindley cf; Hoveland lf; French, c. Lewis—Osborn 1b; Manser ss; Flemming lf; Mulligan 2b; McCue 3b; T. Mulligan p; Brummond cf; Doran rf; McCue, c.

Parker Pen 5; Hanson 2. The Hanson team met its first defeat of the season in their game with the Parkers, the first of the double-header at Athletic Park. Six hits off Clarke and clever base running was sufficient to give the penmakers the game by a score of 5 to 2. The Hanson team put up a strong defense, however, and made their opponents learn the game. The line-up follows:

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A trough of low atmospheric pressure stretches from Manitoba southward over the Plains and the Rockies to Arizona. Areas of high barometer prevail on the North Pacific coast and over eastern Canada. The weather is fair in the lower Lake region and in the Southwest. Otherwise, the weather is unsettled and showers have fallen in the upper Mississippi valley, and throughout a belt that stretches from the south Atlantic coast to the north Pacific slope. Thunderstorms were reported on the Plains from North Dakota to Oklahoma.

The temperature is above normal in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and below normal in the north Pacific slope states.

CARDINALS DEFEAT FAST BELOIT TEAM

Win Game 9 to 6 and Place North Ends Out of Running—White Sox Win From Pirates.

Yesterday afternoon the Janesville cardinals defeated the north ends of Beloit, by the score of 9 to 6. The game was very strongly fought from the start to the finish. The teams had each won one game before yesterday and both teams are out for the championship of this section, but the game yesterday put the Line City boys out of running. The Cardinals have now beaten every team in Beloit. Their lineup was as follows: Wilson catch; Connell, pitcher; Jones short; Connors, first; Cronin, second; J. Ryan, third; Klusky, left field; H. Ryan, centerfield; Cronin, right field.

White Sox Win. For the second time this season the Janesville white sox proved to the Pirates that they were their superiors in baseball. The sox defeated the pirates yesterday afternoon at Athletic park by the score of 5 to 4. The sox claim that if they had exerted themselves they could have run up a very big score, but as they have a telling game for Thursday, they did not want to work too hard. The future of the game was the batting of Stewart who got two hits out of four times at bat. The Sox lineup is as follows: Harper, catch; Britt, pitcher; Stewart short; Stickney, first; Dalton, second; McGinley, third; Cronin, left field; McCue, center field; Porter right field.

Harmony Takes Game. The Harmony team was the victor in their game with the Janesville nationals yesterday afternoon on the Harmony diamond. The score stood 11 to 10 after a hard fought game in which both pitchers were freely hit. The score was:

WELL FILLED FIGHT PROGRAM THE FOURTH Johnson-Flynn Match at Las Vegas, Wolgast-Rivers Bout at Vernon, and Attell-Murphy Fight at "Frisco."

Chicago, Ill., July 1.—No greater bunch of high-class pugilists was ever rounded up for a holiday boxing bill in this country than the aggregation scheduled to take part in the sessions of the glorious Fourth this week. The air will be surcharged figuratively speaking, with bluff bang! from the Atlantic to the Pacific. With the championship heavyweight will be between Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn, which is to be pulled off at Las Vegas, N. M., providing the authorities don't bang down the lid, and the lightweight title match between Ad Wolgast and Joe Rivers at Vernon, Cal. to say nothing of the Abe Attell-Tommy Murphy match at San Francisco and numerous lesser events—the fistic fans will be afforded a feast of fisticuffs that should appeal to the most satiated of the blasé patrons of the game.

Australia Healthiest Country. Australia is the healthiest country in the world, according to statistics presented at the meeting of the Imperial Medical Institute at London recently. The figures, based on late census statistics, show that Australia has a death rate of 10.95 a thousand a year, which is considerably lower than that of any other part of the world.

DEMOCRACY'S PROBLEM.
William J. Bryan apparently has equaled at Baltimore what Theodore Roosevelt did at Chicago. Roosevelt, beaten to a frazzle by the republican leaders, attempted to wreck his party by a bolt. Bryan, unable to gain a nomination for himself and angered by the influence in the convention of men who have been his political enemies, has saddled the democratic party with a load which it can ill afford to carry in the long interval before November.

"The democratic party has again vindicated its sorry record for making mistakes. When the Chicago convention adjourned a week ago Saturday night and the Roosevelt third party movement was started, it looked as if nothing short of a miracle would save the republicans from a crushing defeat this fall.

"But the political prophets who foresaw republican disaster failed to reckon with the man from Nebraska, who thrice had led his party to defeat. Bryan came to Baltimore confident in his belief that he would control the convention and satisfied of his ability to play the game in such a way that two-thirds of the delegates would cry out to him to be the candidate for the fourth time.

Staggered by the extent of the opposition to him personally, and chagrined by his inability to checkmate the maneuvers of the machine leaders, the commoner lost his head. His personal attacks on sitting delegates, his intolerance, his insistence on dictating procedure and writing the platform and his refusal to declare his willingness to support the nominee, made a breach in the party as wide as that made in the republican column by Theodore Roosevelt for three days.

This is the sizing up of the Baltimore situation by one of the correspondents who has witnessed every move of this great gathering of democrats. It sums up the situation in a nutshell. Bryan will either rule or ruin the democratic party. The Chicago Inter-Ocean says of the situation:

"Mr. Bryan on Saturday delivered his ultimatum to the democratic party. He would not, he swore support any candidate who accepted the votes of the delegates of the state of New York.

"Taken as uttered, this would mean that even Mr. Bryan's allies, Dr. Woodrow Wilson, would be branded by Mr. Bryan as a 'reactionary,' as a 'tool of the interests,' should he be nominated by the voters of New York.

"But of course what Mr. Bryan means is that he will bolt the nominee, taking with him as many as he can of his fanatical followers, unless permitted to impose his dictatorship will upon the convention.

"Having had a little time to think it over, the delegates will doubtless prefer to let Mr. Bryan go ahead and bolt if he dares. They have the choice between that and the most craven submission to an impudent dictator.

"Certain hard political facts must also move them to kick Mr. Bryan out of the convention, if necessary, rather than the New York delegates. There are over 9,000,000 people in New York, with about 2,000,000 votes.
"But three times—in 1812, 1856 and 1876—has a presidential candidate won without the electoral votes of New York. In the twenty-seven other elections the winner has had the electoral votes of New York, or most of them.

"The peculiar conditions under which a president has been elected without New York do not now exist. There have been many schemes for electing a president without New York. None has ever worked.
"These are the facts that confronts the democrats. By these facts they will be guided. They must be. No radical rhetoric can overcome these hard facts."

IMPROVEMENT SOUTH OF THE BORDER.

Uncle Sam's boisterous neighbors to the southward are showing hopeful signs of readiness to settle down for a while to orderly ways of life. The lawful authorities are getting the upper hand in those states of the Mexican republic where there has been much disorder and in some instances completely successful local rebellion. And in Cuba, where the armed uprising came much later, it is being put down with enough vigor to warrant the expectation that the civil government will soon control the situation in every part of the island.
In Mexico and Cuba alike there may be outlaw bands hiding in the mountains and thickets for months to come, but the indications are that they will be kept on the defensive and will be run down gradually and captured or exterminated. Insurrection as a hopeful means of getting power and offices, and especially the handling of the taxes, is falling into disrepute in both of the two troubled and at times unstable republics which are necessarily of much concern to the United States.

It is idle to hope that Mexico will ever be such a neighbor as Canada is or that Cuba will cease to contain elements of danger to peace and order, but much progress is possible in both of these Latin-American states. They may profit by the bitter experience of loss and peril and much resulting poverty which rebellions entail.

It is proposed to raise funds for the Bull Moose party by having contribution boxes, in the shape of a "Rough Rider" hat, on street corners, where the dimes and pennies can be collected, as do the Salvationists just before Christmas, with their kettles. Like the other ideas of the big Bull Moose, even the plan of collecting funds is a borrowed one.

The question of careful inspection of the city sewers and flushing the same if need be, as suggested in a communication published Saturday evening, is one that needs immediate attention on the part of the proper city officials. Delays in matters of this kind are often dangerous.

Wisconsin nearly won the big eight-oared varsity race at Poughkeepsie, taking second place in both the freshmen and varsity contests. This is a good showing for the western university that has gone down to the Hudson year after year to compete in what is now the classic college contest of America.

Orocco is reported to be ready to quit and eager for terms of peace. It will be a fortunate day for Mexico when all the rebels against a lawfully chosen and constituted government think more of their personal safety than of the national treasury and fat official sinecures.

Beloit, Clinton, Edgerton and Tiffany are planning to celebrate the glorious Fourth on Thursday in a fitting manner. Next year it will be Janesville's turn again and it will be a "corker."

There promises to be as much interest in the selection of candidates for state offices by both the democrats and republicans as there has been in naming the presidential candidates.

If the plain people had as many friends every day in the year as they have during the sessions of national conventions their troubles would soon be over.

And some Americans will not vote next fall because in a rare assortment they can't find a candidate for president to suit their taste.

The Chicago convention was far superior to the best the Baltimore affair can do—from the point of view of the inn-keepers.

The corn in millions of fields is waiting for the kind of nights that are bad for sleep.

WORKMENS' COMPENSATION OPERATIVE IN BAY STATE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., July 1.—The workingmen's compensation act passed by the recent session of the Massachusetts legislature became operative today. The act provides a fixed scale of compensation for industrial accidents to employees of those employers who accept the measure. If employers did not accept the law they are liable to unlimited damages at common law, and, in addition, are not allowed, as formerly, to plead in defense that the accident was the effect of neglect by the employee, or that it was the result of an act of a fellow servant, or that the employee assumed the risk of employment. Employers who accept the law are obliged to insure with a liability company.

The last time Rev. Hanks was down to the city he looked so religious the police-purty nigh ran him in on suspicion for a con-man.
There are a whole lot of ways to make people think you're rich besides wearin' patent leather shoes on week-days.

Last Sunday the pastor asked every member of the church to bring two sticks of wood when they came to the Thursday evening prayer meeting, as the church woodpile was getting low. Every feller took two sticks of wood from his neighbor's yard, so it was even up purty well, after all.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE

A NEGLECTFUL MOTHER.

A teacher in one of the schools of a big city made great effort to keep in order a boy eleven years of age, son of a wealthy society woman.

Following a series of misdemeanors, she sent him home. She told him to inform his mother why he had been dismissed. Next day she asked the lad if he had told his mother.

"No."

"Why?" asked the teacher.

"Well, teacher, I haven't seen mother for nearly two weeks, and then she was just going out. When I start to school in the morning she is asleep, and they won't let me wake her. When I get home in the evening she is at some afternoon tea, and when she comes home late at night I am in bed. So I don't often see her."

In the school this youth is known as "the bad boy."

But who is really bad—this boy or his mother?

It may seem cruel to so characterize the mother; but—

"The woman is criminally neglectful.

In the sight of God she is guilty of breaking down the walls of her home, of exposing her own flesh and blood, of permitting the soul of her son to be twisted by influences alien to the home, of depriving her boy of a mother's guidance and influence.

Driven by her mad passion for entertainment or by some insatiable spirit of restlessness, she leaves her son to his own devices.

Is it not tragic—and pathetic?

The boy is at the age when the body is aglow with vitality and the mind restless and eager for impressions. Is it strange he should blunder into evil ways?

He is not to blame.

Under a better environment he might have been different. Send such a boy to the country, give him opportunity to work off his surplus energy, give him wholesome interests, make a chum of him, care for him, and he is likely to grow up a good and useful man.

Now he bids fair to grow into a rich hoodlum or a rake, a creature without stamina, physical, mental or moral; a ruined boy, the wages of whose sin may be early disgrace or premature death.

And some day—

Some day a dart shall pierce the soul of this boy's mother for having brought a man child into the world and abandoned him to fate.

PREMIER TURNS FIRST SOD FOR PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Vancouver, B. C., July 1.—The first sod of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was turned at North Vancouver today by Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia. The new line is to connect this city with Fort George and eventually it is to be used as the Vancouver connection of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

MAN HAD SKULL FRACTURED WHEN THROWN FROM BUGGY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Green Bay, Wis., July 1.—J. H. Ruppier, a member of the Brown county board of supervisors and for a number of years representative of a De Pere ward, was thrown from a carriage onto a railway track yesterday and fractured his skull. He died this morning. His wife was seriously injured.

you can ante up for a new switch. See?"
"Oh, you ain't got much of a holer coming. I know some women who don't go home to get supper at all."
"You're the nifty little husband, all right; the little ray of sunshine. The idea of groneching around for a week just because mother says she is going to come and visit us some time next summer. You make me tired."
"Gee, if you was married to some women you wouldn't kick about one little hair in the succotash. I'll tell you that."

Tips on the Races.

As to the general dope for today, I am prepared to hand out the following information after looking the talent over very carefully and interviewing the owners:

Suspender ought to be great in the stretch. Get wise to this.

Mercury ought to be a good runner-up if the weather remains warm.

American Eagle always goes well on the quarter, also on the half dollar.

Porterhouse is apt to go up in the air at any moment.

Mustard Plaster shows evidences of sticking to the finish.

General Humidity ought to do pretty well in a heat.

There is every indication that Furniture Polish will be scratched and Babbling Brook set back for running. Aeroplane is liable to break when least expected to do so.

If you want a safe bet put it on House and Lot.

I will repeat my tip of last season which was so successful, to the effect that Hard Boiled Egg cannot be beaten.

Bookmaker is winner in nearly every race.

If you want to get a run for your money try to catch the first car after the races. A good safe investment for your week's salary is in hamburger sandwiches and ice cream cones.

TAYLOR ART COLLECTION OFFERED AT AUCTION SALE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, July 1.—An auction sale of the art collection of the late John Edward Taylor was begun at Christie's today and will continue for about two weeks. The sale is regarded as the most important dispersal of art treasures so far in the present century. The bulk of the collection consists of miscellaneous works of art, covering practically all periods and schools from the antique to the nineteenth century. The collection is particularly rich in bronzes, early Persian pottery, porcelain, ivories, champleve enamels, croziers and masterpieces of the silversmiths' craft of all periods. The pictures are comparatively few in number, but of exceptionally fine quality. Mr. Taylor, who was proprietor of the Manchester Guardian, died in 1905, leaving his collection for life to his wife, who recently died.

ADOPT TWENTY-FOUR HOUR TIME SYSTEM IN FRANCE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, July 1.—All France, or at least that part of it having to do with official life, is experiencing its first taste of the new system of computing time, counting from 0 to 24, the change having come into effect this morning. The twenty-four hour system now applies to all of the work of the Post Office Department and also to the Government railways, the latter having revised their time tables to conform to the new system.

EASTERN RAILWAY MANAGERS CONFER ON WAGE DEMAND.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 1.—The committee of managers of Eastern railroads met in conference here today with representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers to discuss the recent demands of that organization for increases in pay. The demand has been made on all the roads east of the Mississippi and north of the Chesapeake and Ohio and including the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada. It is estimated that the granting of the increase demanded by the firemen and engineers would add $25,000,000 to the yearly payroll of the Eastern railroads.

HOTEL CLERKS' NATIONAL CONVENTION IN CHICAGO.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., July 1.—Nearly a thousand individuals distinguished by their diamond studs and pompous appearance were welcomed to Chicago by Mayor Harrison today on the occasion of the opening of the first national convention of the Greeters of America. The organization membership is confined to hotel clerks and represents practically all of the leading hostleries of the United States and Canada. This is the first big convention they have held and it promises to be an unequalled success. Some business is to be attended to, but the delegates will devote the most of the time during their four days' stay in Chicago to receptions, automobile and boat rides, luncheons, cabaret parties and beach parties.

TWELVE THOUSAND EMPLOYEES CONCERNED IN PENSION PLAN.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., July 1.—Twelve thousand employees of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company are directly concerned in the old-age and disability pension plan which was put into effect by the company today. After 20 years' service an employee may be pensioned for disability at the age of 60, or when five years older may be retired on pension at his own volition. At the age of 70 retirement is compulsory. The minimum pension is to be $25 a month and the maximum $100 a month. The employees are not called upon to make any contribution to the maintenance of the pension system.

KEEPS WIRES HOT BETWEEN CAPITAL AND BALTIMORE AS CONVENTION DECIDES FATE

Mr. and Mrs. Clark receiving latest news from the firing line.
While his daughter led the cheering for him and passed out Clark buttons at Baltimore, Candidate Clark and his wife remained at home in Washington. They didn't forget all about the pow-wow at the convention city, however. Nor did they, like Woodrow Wilson, go out and play golf. A telephone line led from Clark's house directly to Baltimore, and as the balloting proceeded the candidate kept his ear to the phone pretty regularly, getting the latest news from the firing line. Mrs. Clark seemed to quite as interested as her husband.

YOUNG MAN KILLED BY PITCHED BALL IN GAME SUNDAY

William Traynor, Koshkonong, Almost Instantly Killed in Game at Lake Koshkonong When Ball Struck Him Below Heart.

While playing ball at Lake Koshkonong, Sunday afternoon, William Traynor of Koshkonong, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Traynor of that place, and a nephew of Dr. B. L. Brown of this city, was almost instantly killed when he was struck by a pitched ball, which hit him about half an inch below the heart. Young Traynor was playing with the Newville team against a nine from Afton, and was batting in the eighth inning when the accident occurred, about four o'clock. He took three steps toward first base after he was hit, and then toppled over. Players and others nearby attempted to resuscitate him by rubbing his body and by moving the arms and limbs, and Dr. Brown of Milton Junction was sent for, but their efforts were unavailing. The doctor examined the body, and said that the young man had probably died within five minutes after he was struck. The remains were taken to a nearby cottage, and later were removed to the home of his parents. The accident was witnessed by a number of Janesville people who were at the game. Jack Hall of this city, who was with a party of Janesville young men at the lake, was catching for the Afton team at the time the accident occurred.

The young man was about nineteen years of age and was well liked by all who knew him. Besides his grief-stricken parents, he leaves to mourn his loss, two brothers, Robert and Arthur Traynor of Koshkonong.

COL. HARVEY ATTENDS CONVENTION, BUT DOESN'T SHOUT FOR JERSEY GOVERNOR.

Col. George Harvey and Senator Bacon, of Georgia.

Among the prominent Democrats at the Baltimore convention who were not for Woodrow Wilson, was Col. George Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly. Harvey was the one who first boomed Wilson for president. When the Wilson boom was well under way the New Jersey governor informed Harvey that the latter's support was injuring his (Wilson's) candidacy. There is a widespread belief that J. Pierpont Morgan has a controlling interest in Harvey's publication, and it was because of this that Wilson did not wish that journal's support.

Harry K. Thaw at sanity hearing.

Has Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, recovered his sanity? If his own word were to be taken as final, he has. A judicial inquiry is now in progress in New York to determine whether Thaw is mentally fit to again be turned loose upon the world. Three noted alienists employed by the prosecution have declared that he is as crazy as ever. Thaw was on the stand many hours at the hearing. He appeared to be nearly, if not quite, normal.

COL. BRYAN IN NEW ROLE; REPORTS NATIONAL CONVENTIONS AND SUMS UP POLITICAL SITUATION FOR NEWSPAPER READERS

Col. W. J. Bryan dictating newspaper stories at Baltimore.

Col. W. J. Bryan played an entirely new role at the national political conventions this year. He had been retained by a syndicate of newspapers to report both conventions, and he did so faithfully. Bryan did not take the job because he needed the money; he is already well fixed financially. He simply wanted newspaper readers to see the big conventions as he saw them. In the accompanying photograph he is seen dictating to his stenographer the story of the second day's doings at the Democratic convention in Baltimore.

Woman's Declaration of Independence

WHEREAS in the course of human events it becomes necessary, because of changing conditions, to raise new standards and to assume among the peoples of the earth, the separate and equal station to which developing powers and opportunities entitle them, women today, in this year of our Lord 1912, declare the causes which lead them to demand recognition of their right to citizenship and to live their lives, when doing no injury to others, as free from carping criticism and restricting conditions as men.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: Woman has as much right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as man. That to secure her rights she should have a voice in the government instituted for securing them, and which derives its just powers from the consent of the governed. That when government does not include these rights, it is neither representative nor just and should be broadened to include them.

History shows that womanhood has from time immemorial suffered injustice, rather than insist upon rights that are justly hers. But the time has come to cease this patient suffering and to insist upon that form of government which shall recognize her as a factor in the life of the day, as an individual and as important as is man.

To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world. Woman has long worked without just recognition of the value of her labor or adequate financial compensation.

Woman today, when doing the same work as man, receives less pay. Woman's work today outside the home is in surroundings, the laws governing which are made by man.

Woman's legal status is according to laws made by man. Although man is judged by his peers, a woman in a court of law is, in most cases today, judged by men jurors and a man judge.

The legal inspection of the food that comes into the home, and of the cleanliness and sanitary condition of the city rest entirely with men; and conditions, which a woman's knowledge and experience tell her are wrong, must be endured by her without power to help alter them.

A woman's physical endurance is better understood by women than men. Yet men pass the laws governing her hours of labor, her place, and kind of work.

In scores of other ways has man made the world in which women must live; and though he has tried to make it a beautiful and pleasant and comfortable world for her, woman has outgrown the limitations he has set, and the time has come to publish and declare that this old order must pass away, that woman, henceforth and forever, is and of right ought to be equal with man in passing laws that govern her as well as him, and in creating conditions of national and municipal life that affect her the same as him.

And to bring about this desired end, the women of the land are today, wedging their most earnest efforts, their moneys and their sacred honor.

pared cucumber fine, season with chopped parsley, salt and onion and one tablespoon of lemon juice. Mix thoroughly and drain in a porcelain colander thirty minutes. Add three-fourths of a cup of whipped cream and use immediately. French cucumber salad is similar to the above, but is not so handsome. Pare three cucumbers, cut in half and remove the seeds. Place in ice water for an hour. Peel and seed and chop these small tomatoes, also chop some onion with the tomatoes. Season this mixture and fill the cucumbers with it and cover with lemon juice and oil.

Fried cucumbers—Peel and slice large cucumbers lengthwise about half an inch thick. Dip in egg and crumbs and salt well and fry as with egg plant.

Salmon salad—I of the cucumbers and remove the seeds, boil two minutes in salted water, lift out gently and drain and chill. Fill these shells with cold salmon mixed with heavy mayonnaise. Arrange on a bed of ice.

Stuffed cucumbers—Peel and slice in half and remove seed and pulp. Fill with minced turkey or chicken or old meat dressed. Place in a baking pan and bake twenty minutes.

Epineure cucumbers—Peel large cucumbers and cut them in rounds an inch thick and remove the seeds with a vegetable scoop; drop into boiling well seasoned stock. As soon as tender lift out and drain. Make a rich bread stuffing, add chopped pork or minced chicken, a little parsley and minced onion. Fill each cucumber cup with the mixture and place on a buttered baking platter.

Bestrew with buttered crumbs and grated cheese. Dress with velvet sauce and finish by browning in oven.

DISHES FOR PAPER BAG COOKERY.

Hitherto the vegetables of the ordinary cook have been a byword for all that is "flat, stale and unprofitable," and so they have been robbed of the prestige which their food value entitles them.

The mineral matter, salts and flavors are boiled out in the water and thrown away, the valuable constituents which are so necessary in the blood.

Now in cooking vegetables in bags nothing is lost.

The cooking is easier, no odor to penetrate the house, and the result is a tasty, well-flavored dish. As the evaporation is less in the closely confined bag, it is not necessary to add as much water when cooking.

A pint of green peas and a cup of water with a head of lettuce, a teaspoonful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter; mix together and place in a bag and cook for thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

To cook asparagus, the tip and put into a greased bag with a quarter of a cup of water; cook for forty minutes in a hot oven.

Onions cooked with a very little water, or none at all, and a cup of milk added to cook them in, seasoning of salt and pepper and cook forty minutes on a hot oven.

Potatoes, peel, halve and put sufficient for the family into a bag with a few tablespoonfuls of water, a leaf of mint and a little salt. Cook from thirty to forty minutes.

Spinach is washed and put into the bag without further water for cooking. Cook thirty to forty minutes and place the bag in a dish into which drain off the juice by piercing with a fork.

Cutlets—Take a teaspoonful of salted flour, mix with two tablespoonfuls of curry powder, grease a few cutlets, dust them with flour, put into the bag with a tablespoonful of minced onion and a cup of chicken stock, which may be made from the bones of a roasted fowl. Fold and seal the bag and cook for forty-five minutes. Dish up on a hot platter and pour the sauce over the cutlets.

CHEESE EASILY DIGESTED.

It is commonly supposed that cheese is difficult of digestion. But if thoroughly masticated it is easily digested and very nutritious, and comparatively economical. This is the conclusion stated in the department of agriculture Circular 166, supported by many experiments. Cheese supplies the necessary protein or flesh forming element of food better than meat because it is free from the purins that are the source of uric acid which leads to rheumatism and other nutritional disturbances.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

WHAT CAN YOU GIVE?
"Give what you have. To some one it may be better than you think."

—Longfellow.

A CERTAIN young girl who acts as assistant in a doctor's office collects all the old magazines every few months and personally carries them to a charitable organization, which sees that they are distributed to people to whom they mean a good deal.

This girl does not earn a large salary, and she has very little actual money to give away, but there is no doubt in my mind that if a list of the largest givers in this city were made out by a superhuman personage somewhat after the fashion of the list which Abou Ben Adams' angel visitor compiled, this girl's name would not be far from the head of that list.

Another woman, whose means are rather limited, always puts up a supply of preserves quite disproportionate to her small family. "They are one of the few things I can afford to give," she says, "and I take real comfort in being able to pass them on to people who don't have anything but store preserves." When anyone in the neighborhood of this woman is sure to appear with a cheery word and a tumbler of delicious currant jelly or toothsome marmalade, or whatever happens to be the B. J.'s favorite preserve—for a wonderful memory of her friends' likes and dislikes is an important part of this dear lady's giving. And on Christmas and Easter and all the little gift-giving days she goes about, surprising the shut-ins, or the lonely old person with a humble but welcome little gift.

Can you doubt that she, too, would be on the new Abou Ben Adams' list?

Still another woman who has not much money to give, takes great pride and pleasure in her charity bag. In the first place, she makes it a point not to keep any garments which can really be dispensed with on the chance of one more wearing. In the second place, she does not rip off the pretty buttons, the braid, etc., from garments before she gives it away. In the third place, she sees that everything she gives is clean and neatly mended. "I'd like to give money," she says, "and I can't, but these are things that I can give." Doubtless the unknown recipient of her charity, who finds a clean, whole, pretty garment in place of the denuded, ragged and often soiled junk, she has been accustomed to, this woman's gifts prove far better than she thinks.

The very poorest of us have many little things to give. They may be even less than these things I have mentioned. They may not even be material gifts at all, just such things as the sound of a happy laugh, the companionship of a cheerful personality.

But whatever it is, don't neglect to give this little gift of yours and give freely. "To some one it may prove better than you think."

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson, I am a young girl seventeen years old. I am in love with a young gentleman. But he leaves my home Sunday evenings at such an early hour it seems that his love for me is growing cold. What can I do to restore his love as it once was? How can I find out why he departs at an early hour? W. E. G.

In the first place, my dear, do not try to find out why any man wishes to leave your company at any hour. If he is very fond of you, he will stay in your company, as long as possible. If he is not fond enough of you, to leave your company, then don't trouble about why he doesn't stay with you.

Perhaps the young man is tired, after a week of hard work. Perhaps you expect him to stay too late. Perhaps you have been at fault in allowing him too much liberty with you and he is wearying of it.

If his love for you is growing cold, I know of nothing to restore it. I can only advise you to be a sweet and modest girl, jolly without being bold, a good friend, ready to listen and sympathize, as well as to talk and expect sympathy. Then if your young man doesn't care for you, forget him and wait for somebody that does.

Don't waste any time or tears on a man who doesn't care.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) When a young gentleman proposes to a girl, what should be her reply? If she wishes to marry him? If she doesn't wish to marry him, what should be her reply?

(2) When a young man is in company with a young girl and he should say something the lady does not admire, what is she to do?

(3) How long should a girl's dresses of fourteen years old be?

(4) I have a very poor neck. What should I do to make it plump and full?

(5) It depends upon how he does it. But if you want him, say "Yes," or "I will," or "Most Certainly," or anything else like that, as quick as you can. A good man is worth a quick answer. If you don't want to marry him, tell him as nicely as possible that you have thought of him only as a friend and could not consider him any other way, but that you hope you will still be friends.

(6) The best thing the girl can do is to walk away from him without saying anything at all. If he follows her and repeats the remark she can ask him to kindly leave her alone.

(7) To her shoe-tops.

(8) Wash cold water on your neck and breast night and morning. Massage the neck gently with cocoa butter. If it needs bleaching, use buttermilk or sour milk. Practice deep breathing, standing with your chin and chest up.

Not Good Testimony. Patient (feebly)—"Doctor, my wife says that you have charged too much for operating on me." The Doctor—"But, my dear sir, you don't mean to tell me that she would take your wife's opinion as to your value?"—Life.

CUCUMBERS are a large per cent water, but contain the same friendly minerals and salts that we find in all fresh vegetables. They should be served uncooked, but some there are who insist on cooking them, and below their recipes are published, but remember we warn you they are insipid and in this case "the sauce is the thing," as the boarder said after his third helping of pudding.

Served uncooked they should be chilled thoroughly; pare and cut into the thinnest of thin slices and place in ice water for an hour; do not salt at this time. Drain and cover with French or mayonnaise dressing or season with salt, pepper and vinegar.

Cucumber and tomato salad to serve with fish—Rare the "cukes," as the green grocers have named them, and cut them in half lengthwise. Place in ice water for half an hour, and do not salt the water as that makes them hard to digest and softens them. Drain and place on crisp lettuce on a long narrow salad dish, and with a thin sharp knife slice them without destroying their shape, garnish with slices of tomato and dress with oil and vinegar, salt and pepper or salad dressing.

A summer salad that delights both eye and taste is a combination of cucumbers and tomatoes. Slew six large tomatoes until soft enough to press through a sieve. To this puree add a thin slice of onion, two whole cloves, a small blade of mace, one tablespoon of vinegar and a half teaspoon of tomatoes. Heat this and add a half a package of dissolved gelatin. Strain again and pour into a ring mold and place on ice to harden. The whole operation does not take much longer to do than to tell and is very simple. When ready to serve take from the mold and place on a garnish of lettuce and fill the center with sliced cucumbers dressed with mayonnaise.

If The Price of Coffee Would Double Again All the Better!

The price of coffee has doubled in three or four years. And this, despite production has doubled in that time. The reason for the present high price of coffee was sought and it has been found that the market supply has been artificially restricted. The Brazilian government is in the operation and participates in the profits to the extent of an export duty of three cents a pound. And American bankers are financing the scheme. Diabolical plot? Outrageous conspiracy? Perhaps!

But we did not take our pen in hand to condemn anybody concerned except COFFEE DRINKERS—to condemn them and, also, to congratulate them, both upon the present increased price and the probability that it will go higher.

It isn't exactly inspiring to see American capital finding its way to a foreign country to be used there to the end of exploiting American family pocketbooks.

However, this is not the saddest fact involved, to our way of thinking.

It is most regrettable that the consumption of coffee in this country has increased to a point to warrant manipulation of the supply. We don't like to look upon coffee as becoming a NECESSITY to the American people, and view with alarm the activities of capital suggesting that it is becoming a necessity.

Coffee isn't good for you. Too much of it is positively harmful. If the present price, doubled in four years, would double again, it would be the best thing that ever happened to the excessive coffee drinker.

He wouldn't drink as much of it. Better yet, maybe he wouldn't drink it at all. Just possibly you see us put down as being a bit nervy in this—coming in and sitting down beside you before the coffee pot and telling you to keep hands off.

Nevertheless, we mean well. We are talking for your good. You like coffee, probably, and perhaps you think it is none of our business if you drink it or if you drink all you want of it. Babies want those pink pills that look like candy and cry if we don't let them have them. The same pink pills, left around by careless mothers, have killed many babies. And many grown people know as little as babies about the care of their bodies.

There are intemperate coffee drinkers the same as there are intemperate drinkers of alcoholic beverages. One cup of coffee isn't going to prove fatal, nor two cups of coffee. Two cups may upset your entire system, make you uneasy, restless and peevish and undo you for best results for a day; but it will wear off after awhile the same as a whiskey drunk wears off.

But bring to us a person who drinks two and three cups of coffee regularly for breakfast, or a person who drinks coffee three times a day, and we will show you a person with a bad-aching head, a sluggish liver, a disordered stomach and a shattered nervous system. If you don't believe us, ask your doctor.

He will tell you that coffee contains caffeine, which he gives in the smallest kind of doses for a heart stimulant. He will tell you further that too much caffeine or too much coffee will give you a palpitating heart.

Then if you are satisfied to run the risk of having that kind of a heart, keep right on drinking all the coffee you want, and excuse us for interfering.

COMMENDS THE WORK OF TRAINING SCHOOL

PRESIDENT CHARLES MOORE OF TRAINING SCHOOL BOARD
PRAISES WORK DONE
IN GARDEN.

ENCOURAGES THE PLAN

Says Training in Agriculture is of Value in Inducing Many Boys in Rural Districts to Remain on Farms—Has Practical Value.

In a letter written by Charles Moore, president of the Rock county training school board, praise is given Principal T. J. Lowth for his supervision, and the young lady students for their efforts in the study of practical and scientific agriculture in the garden made by the students. In his letter Mr. Moore says that such training is needed in the rural schools to make the boys living in the country realize the advantages of farming as an industry, and arouse in them an interest in the work, so they will not leave the farms. The preliminary work Mr. Moore says, is, he believes, the first step, marking the beginning of an epoch in the common schools of the county. His letter is as follows:

A visit to the school gardens of the Rock County Teachers' Training school, has impressed me favorably as to the feasibility of that line of school work. These gardens have been grown in a vacant lot near the school under the supervision of Prof. F. J. Lowth, with the labor of the students. I confidently believe that this is the first step that will mark the beginning of an epoch in the common school system of Rock county.

We must have teachers for our common schools who have had at least some practical and scientific training in agriculture and who have been trained in the spirit of rural life if we are to get away from the present system that tends to educate our boys and girls away from the farm instead of for it. This education forms the common mind, just as the twig is bent so the tree is inclined.

Three years ago the pupils above the fourth grade in thirty-four schools in Wright county, Iowa, were asked what they intended to do after leaving school. Of the 164 boys, 57 replied that they would have nothing to do with farming. Similarly of the 174 girls 163 voted against farming. Three years later, during which time instruction had been given in agriculture and home economics, the same question was asked of the pupils of the same schools. This time 162 of the 174 boys answered that they intended to be farmers and 161 of the 178 girls were planning on remaining on the farm. Could there be better proof of the success of the gardens than this?

Of course the teaching of practical and scientific farming and home economics could be much better managed if our schools were consolidated and if we had an agricultural high school in each township. I regard these school gardens as the beginning that will work to that end which doubtless will be the solution of our rural school problem and of our rural life and high cost of living problems as well. When that day comes we will no longer think of moving to town to educate our children, but rather town people will look longingly for an opportunity to educate their children in the country, which is in reality the naturally ideal place for the education of our youths. The educational world is today studying on ways and means to accomplish that end. In Germany there is a movement on foot to get their schools out into the country. Prof. E. J. Horchheim of Dubuque, is attracting wide attention by his unique "Park Life" system of rural education an account of which shows his plan is proving a success. Space does not permit me to go into this as much as I would like to.

It should be borne in mind that agriculture is the basis of the growth and development of our nation in every department and anything that can be done to increase its productivity and elevate the general plane of farm life finds its reflection in every other phase of our national life, and in every other class of society. The education of the future must be along vocational and specialized lines. We cannot expect to qualify our children to become successful farmers by educating them in an urban school, foreign to the farms or under our present common school system that has been outgrown by modern conditions.

So all hail to the Training school gardens and to the prospective teachers who labored therein and in the sweat of their brows have learned something of the nature and spirit of the "noblest occupation known to man" and are thus better qualified to impart that knowledge and spirit to their pupils.

C. E. MOORE,
Pres. Training School Board.

COUNCIL TO ENFORCE NEW AUTO ORDINANCE

Will Erect Signs Indicating Limits of Eight Miles An Hour Zone—Six Miles at Intersections.

Enforcement of the ordinance regulating the operation of automobiles and motorcycles is to be made a special subject by the city council. With the rapid increase in the number of these machines, the danger from carelessness in their operation increases proportionately, and the necessity of having and enforcing rules to prevent accidents is made the more evident. The council, in justice to the drivers of automobiles wishes to inform them fully of the provisions of the regulating ordinance so that there may be no excuse of ignorance for violations, and for that reason will put up "slow down" signs at the city limits of all approaches to the city, and signs indicating the borders of the eight miles an hour zone. The boundaries of this zone, as well as the other provisions of the ordinance, are given in full below.

CHAPTER VII Automobiles, Motorcycles and Bicycles.

Section 1. Automobiles and Motorcycles.—The words, automobiles and motorcycles, as used in this chapter, shall be deemed to refer to and include all vehicles, other than railway cars, which are propelled by steam, gasoline or electric power.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

LUCK.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

Luck is a kind of favoritism which fate bestows upon people, who otherwise couldn't locate the side pocket with a surveyor's outfit. It comes in streaks and is always deserting a man just when two small pair would be perfectly good. Some people are continually having a hunch that they are about to get right and then luck steps in and hands them ticket No. 97,804 in the Louisiana lottery.

This world is full of men who are investing their wives' money in December wheat in the hope that luck will come along and force a dizzy killing upon them. The untutored youth who plays the wheel of fortune at the county fair in an attitude of pigeon-toed expectancy thinks he is trying his luck, but luck is never allowed to get far enough into a wheel of fortune to reduce the six receipts. Some people are born so lucky that they try to substitute it for industry and brains, and the first time they bump into a writ of attachment they proceed to writ of a loud wheeze about their "hard luck." If a great many people would rely more upon ten hours a day at real work and less upon the conviction that some distant relative is about to die and pass them an assortment of fortune line insurance, there would be more money in the grocery business. As a rule, the man who is pursued by hard luck until he couldn't climb over his judgment with a fire ladder never sat up nights with manual labor to any dazzling extent. The only kind of luck which gets a man anything is the kind that he goes after with set teeth and a stout heart and a square deal, and when he gets to depending upon a break in the market or a last will and testament his clutch needs tightening. The man who conducts his business on the principle of filling to an inside straight usually winds up by sitting in with the referee in bankruptcy, ringing edges in with a list of claims ranging from the steam laundry to the panatorium. Luck is a good thing to have, when a man doesn't allow it to interfere with the pay roll or the annual invoice.

Newspaper Has Record for Size.

The largest newspaper in the world was the Illuminated Quadruple Constellation, which appeared in New York on Independence day, 1863. Its dimensions equaled that of a billiard table—eight feet long by six feet wide; and, strange to say for an American publication, it had no advertisements. A copy of this mammoth newspaper production can be seen at the Newspaper Museum of At-Lia-Chapelle, France. Its price was fifty cents.

DINNER STORIES.

The old gray-haired doctor was walking along when he espied a crowd. Not an unusual thing, a crowd, but what interested him was the fact that his young medical nephew was at the head of it.

"What on earth are you doing with this crowd, my boy?" he remarked, as he stopped the boy.

"I've hired them to come and sit in my reception room. I expect a rich patient this morning and I want to make an impression on him," he whispered confidentially.

"And the old doctor walked away with a tear in his eye as he thought of the days of his youth.

"Now," said the millionaire to the waiter at the country hotel, after he had stopped his motor car for luncheon, "let me have the bill, please."

"What have you had, sir?" demanded the waiter.

"Four sandwiches and two glasses of elder," replied the millionaire quickly. "Wait a moment. What has the chauffeur had downstairs?"

"One minute, sir, and I will find out."

The waiter was absent for some time.

"Well," demanded the rich man on his return, "what is it?"

"The chauffeur, sir," answered the knight of the napkin, has had an omelette, a grilled trout, lamb cutlets and peas, an ice, a cup of coffee, a quarter cigar and one pint of champagne."

"But, above all, I am an artist," he said, speaking of himself as usual.

while his listeners openly yawned. "From the moment I make my first appearance on the stage I forget everything but my part. I leave my own personality behind me. I am Romeo, Otello or the Wandering Jew. The theater vanishes; the audience disappears."

"Yes, I've noticed that!" broke in one of his victims, rousing himself. "What?" asked Hamlet, etc.

"That the audience disappears," said the interrupter, falling asleep again.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

ANDREW JACKSON'S RIDICULOUS PERFORMANCE.

By A. W. MACY.

Gen. Jackson was a stirring character in public affairs long before he became president. As commander of the army in the south while negotiations were pending for the transfer of Florida from Spain to the United States he kept the president in a constant state of anxiety by his impetuous way of doing things. After the treaty was consummated the Spanish governor, Calava, refused to turn over certain documents until he received express orders from his government to do so. He appears to have been an unusually intelligent and conscientious man, for a Spanish official, and to have been warranted in the delay. But the fiery Jackson was not the waiting sort. He raged and fumed and stormed, and finally put the Spanish governor in the calaboose over night. It was a ridiculous performance, and, as a writer of the time said, "much ado about less than nothing."

The Three Guardsmen

ALEXANDRE DUMAS

"God said to, 'that man would, henceforward, lay down his life for me!'"

Theor opened and Rochefort returned.

"We said the cardinal eagerly.

"A young woman of about twenty-six or twenty-eight years of age and a marmot thirty-five to forty have lodged the two houses pointed out by yd eminence, but the woman left last at and the man this morning."

"It were the persons?" cried the cardinal, looking at the clock, "and now it is too late to have them pursued: the chess is at Tours and the duke at Hogue. It is at London they must meet with."

"We are your eminence's orders?"

"Na word of what has passed; let a queen be ignorant that we know her secret. Tell Vitray to come to hand and tell him to get ready for a journey."

"Instantly after the man he requires was before him, booted and spurred."

"Say," said he, "you will go with all to London. You will deliver this letter to my lady. Here is an order for pistols; call upon my treasurer and the money. You shall have as much again if you are back within six days and have executed your commission."

"We were the contents of the letter."

"Ready—Be at the first ball at which the Duke of Buckingham shall be present. He will wear on his doublet a diamond studs; get as near to him as you can and cut off two of them. As soon as these studs shall be your possession, inform me."

CHAPTER XI.

Of the Robe and Men of the Sword.

On the day after these events had taken place, Athos had not having reappeared, M. de Treville was informed by D'Artagnan and Porthos of the circumstance. As to Aramis, he had asked leave of absence for five days and gone, it was said, to Rouen, on fully business.

de Treville was the father of his soldiers. He repaired, then, instantly the residence of the lieutenant criminal. The officer who commanded the of the Croix Rouge was sent for, by successive inquiries, they and that Athos was at the time lodged in the Fort l'Evêque.

Athos, after the scene with M. Monux, declared that his name was pos, and not D'Artagnan. He added that he did not know either M. de Treville, or that he had never been to the one or the other; that he came, at about 10 o'clock in the evening, to pay a visit to his friend, d'Artagnan, but that till that hour had been at M. de Treville's, where he had dined: "twenty witnesses," he added, "could attest the fact," and named several distinguished gentlemen, and among them was M. de la Tremouille.

The second commissary was as much bewildered as the first had been at the simple but firm declaration of the musketeer. Athos was then sent to the cardinal, but unfortunately the cardinal was at the Louvre with the king.

It was precisely at this moment at which M. de Treville arrived at the Palace. As captain of the musketeers, M. de Treville had the right of entree at all times.

It is well known how violent the king's prejudices were against the queen and how carefully these prejudices were kept up by the cardinal, who in affairs of intrigue mistrusted women much more than men. One of the principal causes of this prejudice was the friendship of Anne of Austria for Mme. de Chevreuse. In his eyes and to his perfect conviction Mme. de Chevreuse not only served the queen in her political intrigues, but, which troubled him still more, in her love affairs.

At the first word the cardinal spoke of Mme. de Chevreuse, who, though exiled to Tours and who was believed to be in that city, had been at Paris, remained there five days and had outwitted the police, the king flew into a furious passion. Although capricious and unfaithful, the king wished to be called Louis the Just and Louis the Faithful.

But when the cardinal added that not only Mme. de Chevreuse had been in Paris, but, still further, that the queen had corresponded with her; when he affirmed that he, the cardinal, was about to unravel the most closely twisted thread of this intrigue; when at the moment of arresting in the fact, with all the proofs about her, the queen's emissary to the exiled duchess a musketeer had dared to interrupt the course of justice violently by falling sword in hand, upon the honest men of the law charged with investigating impartially the whole affair in order to place it before the eyes of the king, Louis XIII. could not contain himself, and he made a step toward the queen's apartment with that pale and mute indignation which when it broke out led this prince to the commission of the coldest cruelty.

And yet in all this the cardinal had not yet said a word about the Duke of Buckingham.

At this instant M. de Treville entered, cold, polite and in irreproachable costume. Rendered aware of what had passed by the presence of the cardinal, and the alteration in the king's countenance, M. de Treville felt himself something like Samson before the Philistines.

"You arrive in good time, monsieur," said the king, who, when his passions were raised to a certain point, could not dissemble; "I have learned some pretty things concerning your musketeers."

"And I," said M. de Treville, coldly, "I have some pretty things to inform your majesty of concerning these men of the robe. I have the honor to inform your majesty that a party of police have taken upon themselves to throw into the Fort l'Evêque, all upon an order which they have refused to show me, one of my, or rather your musketeers, sire, of irreproachable conduct, M. Athos."

"M. Athos went to pay a visit to one of his friends, at the time absent, to a young Bearnaise, a cadet in his majesty's guards, the company of M. Desseart, but scarcely had he arrived at his friend's and taken up a book while waiting his return when a crowd of bailiffs and soldiers mixed, came and laid siege to the house and broke open several doors."

"Oh, we all know that!" interrupted the king; "for all that was done for our service."

"Then," said Treville, "it was for your majesty's service that one of my musketeers, who was innocent, has been paraded through the midst of an insolent populace."

"Bah!" said the king, who began to be shaken, "was it managed so?"

"M. de Treville," said the cardinal, with the greatest phlegm, "does not tell your majesty that this innocent musketeer, this gallant man, had only an hour before attacked, sword in hand, four commissaries of inquiry, who were delegated by me to examine into an affair of the highest importance."

"I defy your eminence to prove it," cried M. de Treville, with his Gascon freedom and military roughness, "for one hour before M. Athos, who, I will confide it to your majesty, is really a man of the highest quality, did me the honor, after having dined with me, to be conversing in the salon of my hotel with M. the Duke de la Tremouille and M. le Comte de Chalus, who happened to be there."

The king looked at the cardinal.

"A process verbal attests it," said the cardinal.

"And, sire, is this process verbal of men of the robe to be placed in comparison with the word of honor of a man of the sword?" replied Treville haughtily. "If his eminence entertains any suspicion against one of my musketeers the justice of M. the Cardinal is sufficiently well known to induce me, myself, to demand an inquiry."

"In the house in which this judicial inquiry was made," continued the impassable cardinal, "there lodged, I believe, a young Bearnaise, a friend of the musketeers, M. d'Artagnan."

"Yes, your eminence."

"Do you not suspect this young man of having given bad advice?"

"To M. Athos! To a man double his age?" interrupted M. de Treville. "No, monseigneur. Besides, M. d'Artagnan passed the evening at my house."

"Let me inquire at what hour he was with you," said the cardinal.

"Oh, that I can speak to positively, your eminence, for as he came in I remarked that it was but half past 9 by the clock, although I had believed it to be later."

"And at what hour did he leave your house?"

"At half past 10, an hour after the event."

"Well, but," replied the cardinal, who could not for an instant suspect the loyalty of M. de Treville and who felt that the victory was escaping from his hands—"well, but Athos was taken in the house of the Rue des Fossoyeurs."

"Is one friend forbidden to visit another or a musketeer of my company to fraternize with a guard of M. Desseart's company?"

"Yes, when the house in which he fraternizes is suspected."

"Indeed, I knew nothing of the circumstance. The house may be suspected, but I deny that it is in the part of it inhabited by M. d'Artagnan, for I can affirm, sire, if I can believe what he says, that there does not exist a more devoted servant of your majesty or a more profound admirer of M. the Cardinal."

"Come, how shall we determine?" said the king.

"That concerns your majesty more than me," said the cardinal. "I should affirm the culpability."

"And I deny it," said M. de Treville. "But his majesty has judges, and these judges will decide."

"That is best," said the king. "Send the case before the judges; it is their business to judge, and they will judge."

"Only," replied Treville, "it is a sad thing that, in the unfortunate times in which we live, the purest life, the most incontestable virtue, cannot exempt a man from infamy and persecution. The army, I will answer for it, will be but little pleased at being exposed to rigorous treatment on account of affairs of police."

The expression was imprudent, but M. de Treville launched it with a full knowledge of his cause. He was desirous of an explosion, because in that case the mine throws forth fire, and fire enlightens.

"Affairs of police!" cried the king, taking up M. de Treville's words: "affairs of police! And what do you know about them, monsieur? Here's a piece of work about a musketeer. Why, I would arrest ten of them, a hundred, even—all the company, and I would not allow a murmur."

"From the moment they are suspected by your majesty," said Treville, "the musketeers are guilty. Therefore you see me prepared to surrender my sword; for, after having accused my soldiers, there can be no doubt that M. the Cardinal will end by accusing me."

"Gascon headed man, will you have done?" said the king.

"By your glorious father, and by yourself—who are that which I love and venerate the most in the world—I swear it!"

"Be so kind as to reflect, sire," said the cardinal. "If we release the prisoner thus we shall never be able to know the truth."

"M. Athos will always be where he is to be found," replied Treville, "always ready to answer, when it shall please the men of the long robe to interrogate him."

"And he is in the Fort l'Evêque?" said the king.

"Yes, sire, in solitary confinement, in a dungeon, like the lowest criminal in France."

"What must be done?" murmured the king.

"Sign the order for his release, and all will be said," replied the cardinal. "I believe, with your majesty, that M. de Treville's guarantee is more than sufficient."

Treville bowed very respectfully, with a joy that was not unalloyed with fear; he would have preferred an obstinate resistance on the part of the cardinal to this sudden yielding.

The king signed the order and Treville carried it away without delay. He made his entrance triumphantly into the Fort l'Evêque, whence he delivered Athos, whose peaceful indifference had not for a moment abandoned him.

Scarcely had the captain of the musketeers closed the door after him than his eminence said to the king:

"Now that we are at length by ourselves we will, if your majesty pleases, converse seriously. Sire, M. de Buckingham has been in Paris five days and only left this morning."

OF COURSE

Weeks—I once knew a man who really enjoyed moving.
Seeks—I don't believe it.
Weeks—It's a fact. You see, he lived in a houseboat.

WOES OF SUBURBANITE

"Oh, yes, I bought a country place, laid out $2,000 on it, and now it's worth twice what I paid for it."
"What did you pay for it?"
"Five hundred dollars."

UNCLE WALT

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

I have sympathy to burn for the folks who never learn to pick up a rattling story and forget their care and toil; for the novel readers find payment for the beastly grind in a yarn by Hope or Farnol, Phillipsheim or Conan Doyle. With a corking book in hand all my griefs and woes are canned, all the sordid work and worry are forgotten for a time; and adventures range off to countries far and strange in the wake of Rider Haggard or E. Oppenheimsheim. When the summer days are hot I grow weary of my lot, of the constant strain and effort, of the ice-man and the flies; but I soon forget my care, seated in a garden chair with a volume that conveys me to a land beneath arctic skies. When the wintry tempests howl I am somber as an owl—for it keeps me always humping to supply the house with coal—(I get next to a book in the cozy inglenook and repair to scented islands where the tropic billows roll, your's unfortunately, indeed, if you can't sit down and read and imagine you're a hunter, an explorer or a sleuth; if you cannot roam away to Old Bagdad or Cathay on the shining wings of fancy and forget the shabby truth. So I gaily help myself to some fiction from the shelf and go questing for adventure till my drowsy eyelids drop; nothing gives so much relief from the weary round of grief as a tale by Rudyard Kipling or H. Phillipsheim.

Saw Nothing of Value in Pearls.
When the army of Galerius sacked the camp of the routed Persians a bag of shining leather filled with pearls fell into the hands of a private soldier, but the latter, while carefully preserving the bag threw away its contents under the impression that anything that could not be used for useful purposes had no other value.

VACATION DAYS.

School days are over!
Isn't it grand?
Summer vacation
Now is at hand.
Find a ball player.

Kiss education
Fondly goodbye.
Three strikes, there, teacher!
Out on a fly.

Sprung an Old One on Him.
By the way, I saw a string of exceptionally large monkeys. I mentioned that they looked like small men, and a darky broke in and said: "Boss, them monkeys can speak if they wanted to, but they are afraid that if they did they would be put to work."—Northwestern.

Wisdom.
"A spendthrift," observes Uncle Elias, "should always marry an extravagant woman. Inside of six months they'll drive each other to habits of economy."

Qualified.
Marger—"Could you do the land-lord in 'The Lady of Lyons'?" Actor—"Well, I should say so! I've done a good many."—Tattler.
